THE HOWARD COLLEGE ENTRE NOUS

1951

BETTY ADAMS, Editor

FRANK HAYES, Bus. Man.

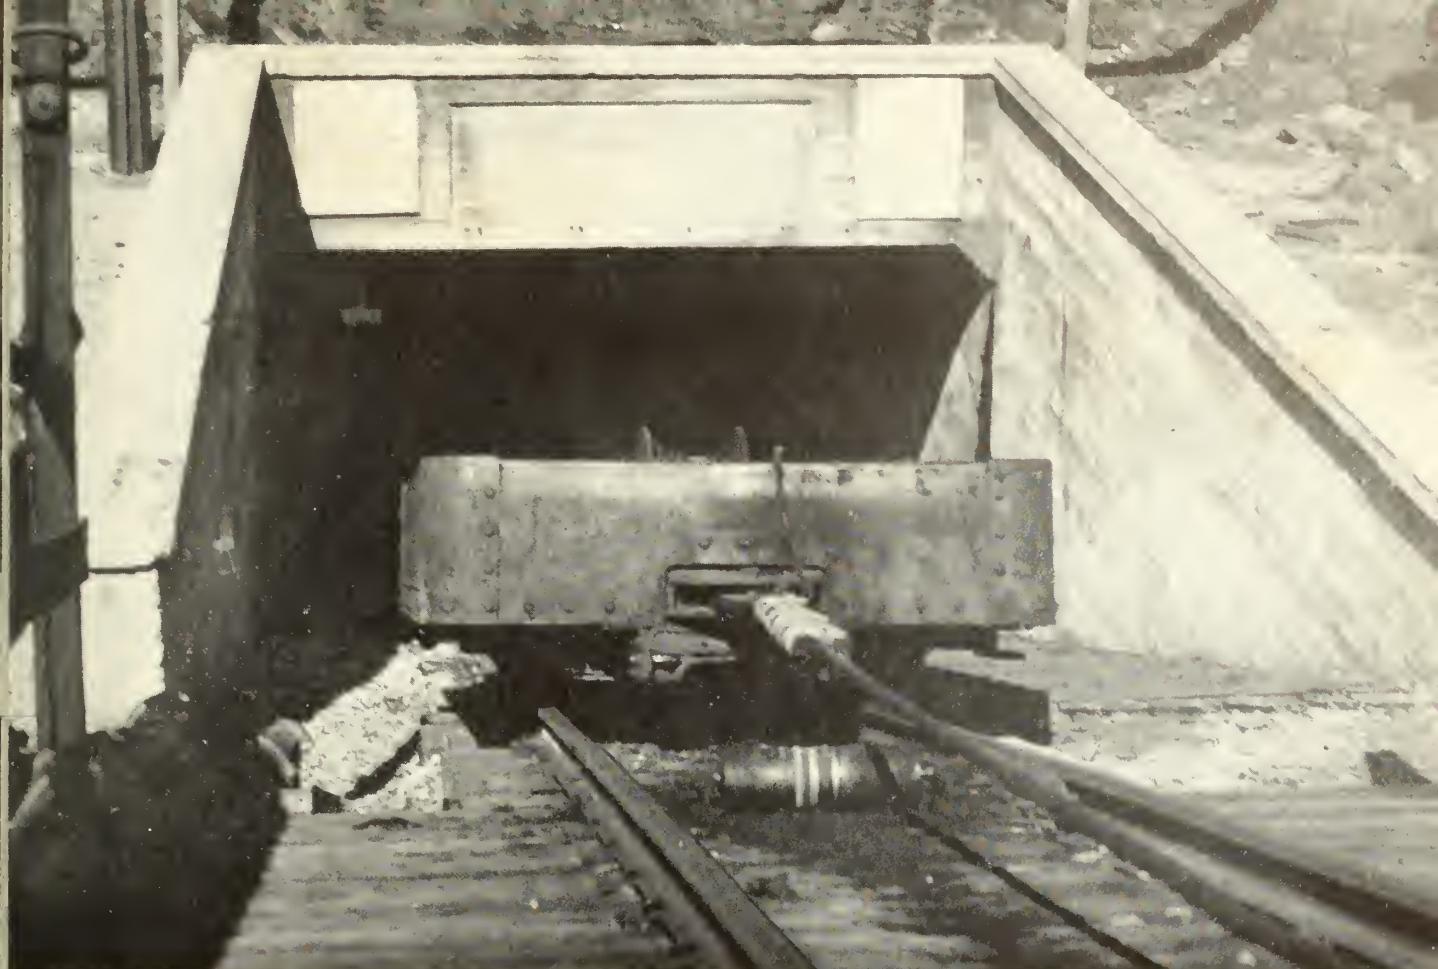

EMMETT PARKER, Assoc. Ed.

From the Pagodas of China

"A flash of color beneath the sky," "Old Glory" unfurls atop her mast between Old Main and Causey Gym, and commands a lofty view of the activities of 1000 students and 112 members of the Faculty and Administration, of Howard college. Before her unfolds the story of a typical school year at Howard—a story of books, classes, sports, parties, and worship; while in the shadow of her stars and bars walk representatives of other flags—Japanese, Chinese, Philippine, Argentine, Cuban, Panamanian, Hawaiian.

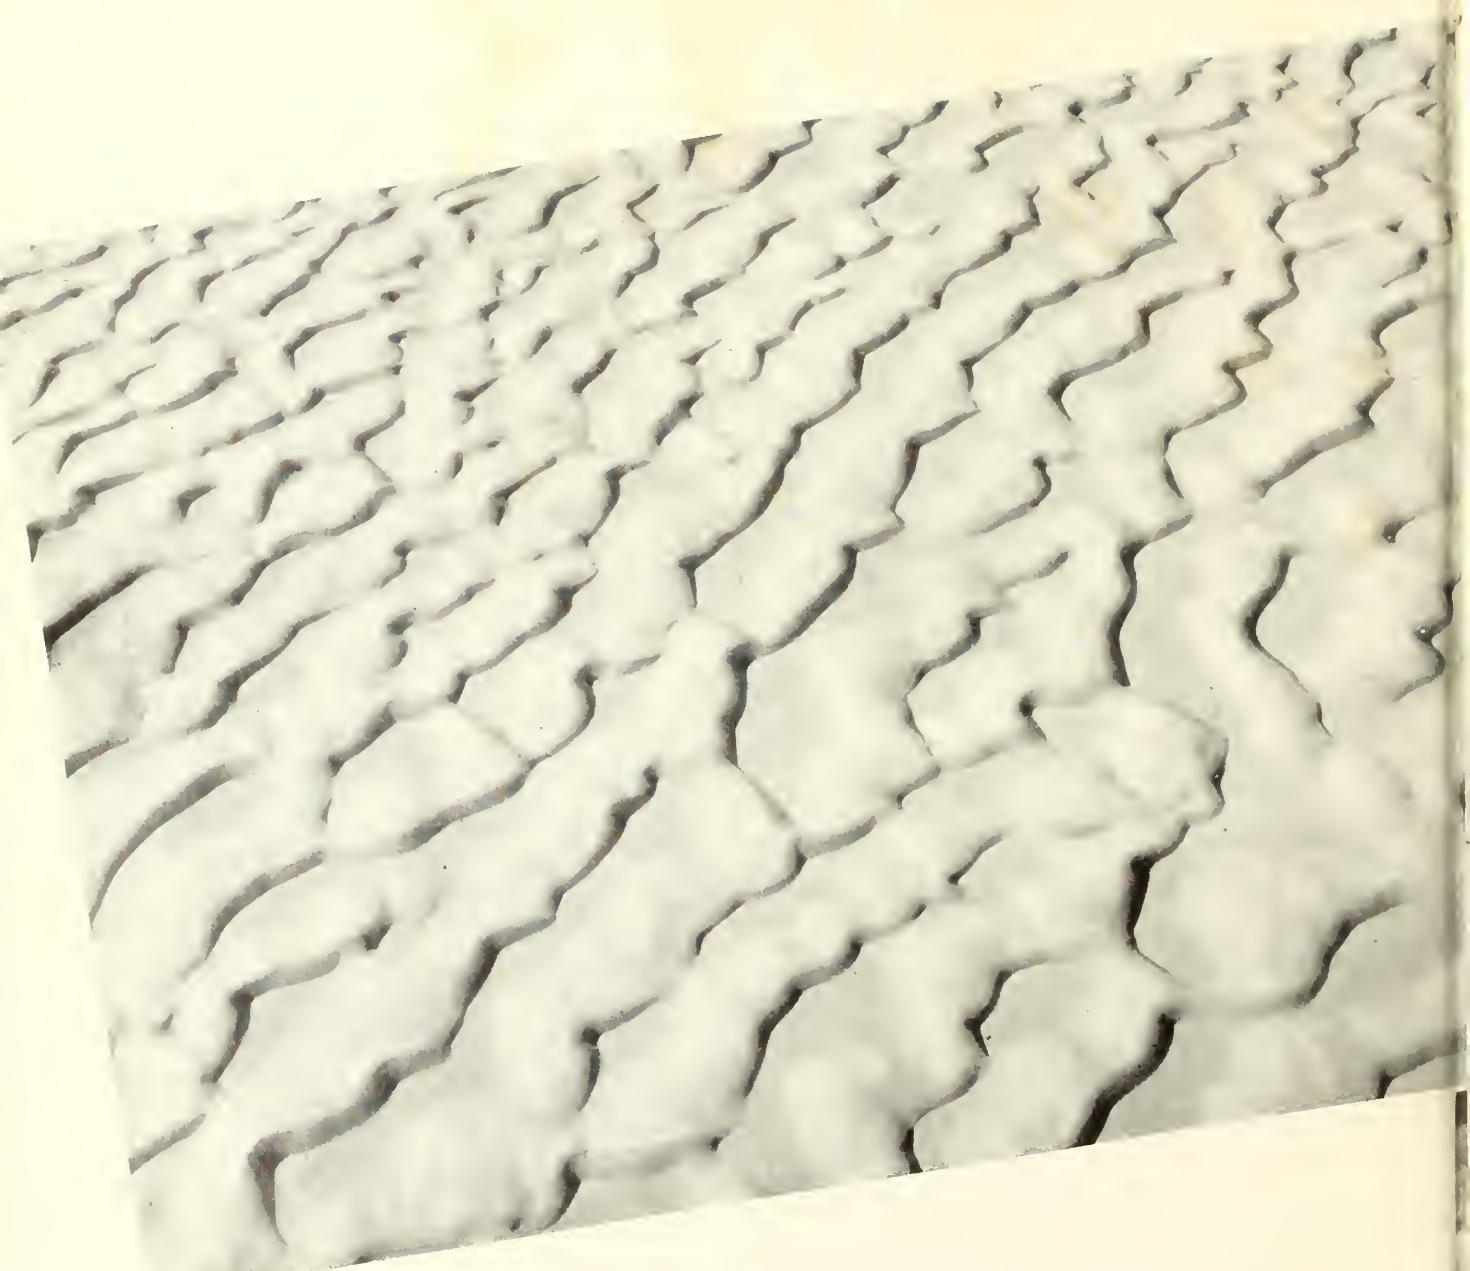

One thousand strong, our students come from all parts of the world and from all walks of life. Each has something definite to contribute to the spirit of this Christian institution, and the flag of the United States proudly waves her approval.

It is Autumn! Black spots which are a part of the maintenance crew are raking leaves and planting winter grass. Strains of the "Marseillaise" and "Mein Faderland" are heard in Riley Hall. A group gathers at the entrance of Pine Lodge, center of religious activities. Cheers from Berry Field are evidence that the football team is in fine fettle. A dozen stately figures are entering the Library for a meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Winter affords Old Glory her best view of the campus, but all is bleak and still under the barren branches. Only the spruce tree and the boxwoods lend a note of color. During the Christmas season the APO tree sets everything aglow and attracts pilgrims from over the city. A light snow wraps the world in white for only a few hours, as the last soft strains of the A Capella Choir's carols fade into silence, and the students desert the college for a fortnight in their respective homes.

It is in the Spring that the campus bursts into full glory! We could write a volume of poems about "Howard in the Spring." An English class moves out of the "vine-covered shack" and settles down in a circle, absorbing the ultra-violets and the rules of the subjunctive. Another group near Smith Hall is already developing the life history of the mosquito, along with a "coup de soliel." As the breezes gently part the branches of the oak tree, the banner glimpses a couple whose fancies have "lightly turned"—a couple not so greatly interested in Old Sol's rays as in the shadows of Sherman! Greetings of "Bonjour" and "Si, si, Senor" traveling on the wind reaches the ears of Old Glory, as classes change, and a rush for Old Main says that the Crimson is out.

from the Mighty Waters of

A glance Barracks-ward reveals more strenuous activities. It is election day. A soft-ball game is in progress in one corner of Berry Field. The band, in brilliant red and blue, is playing a pep-song. Cheerleaders are going through all sorts of gymnastics. Oblivious of the other noises, promising candidates for Student Body offices are holding forth in eloquent oratory from a platform near the Bookstore. Balloons are free for all, as are the scuffling of the young fry attracted by the merry-making.

There are many visitors to the college at this time of year—alumni coming “home,” parents of resident students come for a weekend with John or Mary, and prospective students looking us over. Some of the latter join students entering a large bus plastered with the undignified inscription French Quarters or Bust, and we know the le Cercle Francais is off on its annual jaunt to the Crescent City.

At last comes graduation day. That academic procession of vari-colored hoods forming in front of the Library contains more degrees than a thermometer, and represent colleges in all parts of the world—from Scotland to Mexico (with emphasis on Duke and L.S.U.). Following the Faculty and Officers of the Administration marches one of the largest graduating classes in the history of the college—black-robed in dignity. The facial expression of 389 Seniors reveals the joy of four years' work accomplished, mingled with the sorrow of departing from these familiar scenes and beloved surroundings. The procession leaves the campus and wends its dirge-like way to Ruhama, the college church, to receive the diplomas which lower the curtain on the college careers of these young men and women.

Our Star-Spangled Banner has witnessed another school year at Howard College. One more year has been added to the 108 years of illustrious history which this institution has known—one more glorious year to crown the efforts and foresight of the Christian founders who began this history with a student body of nine boys—one more year which will never be forgotten by those who participated in it.

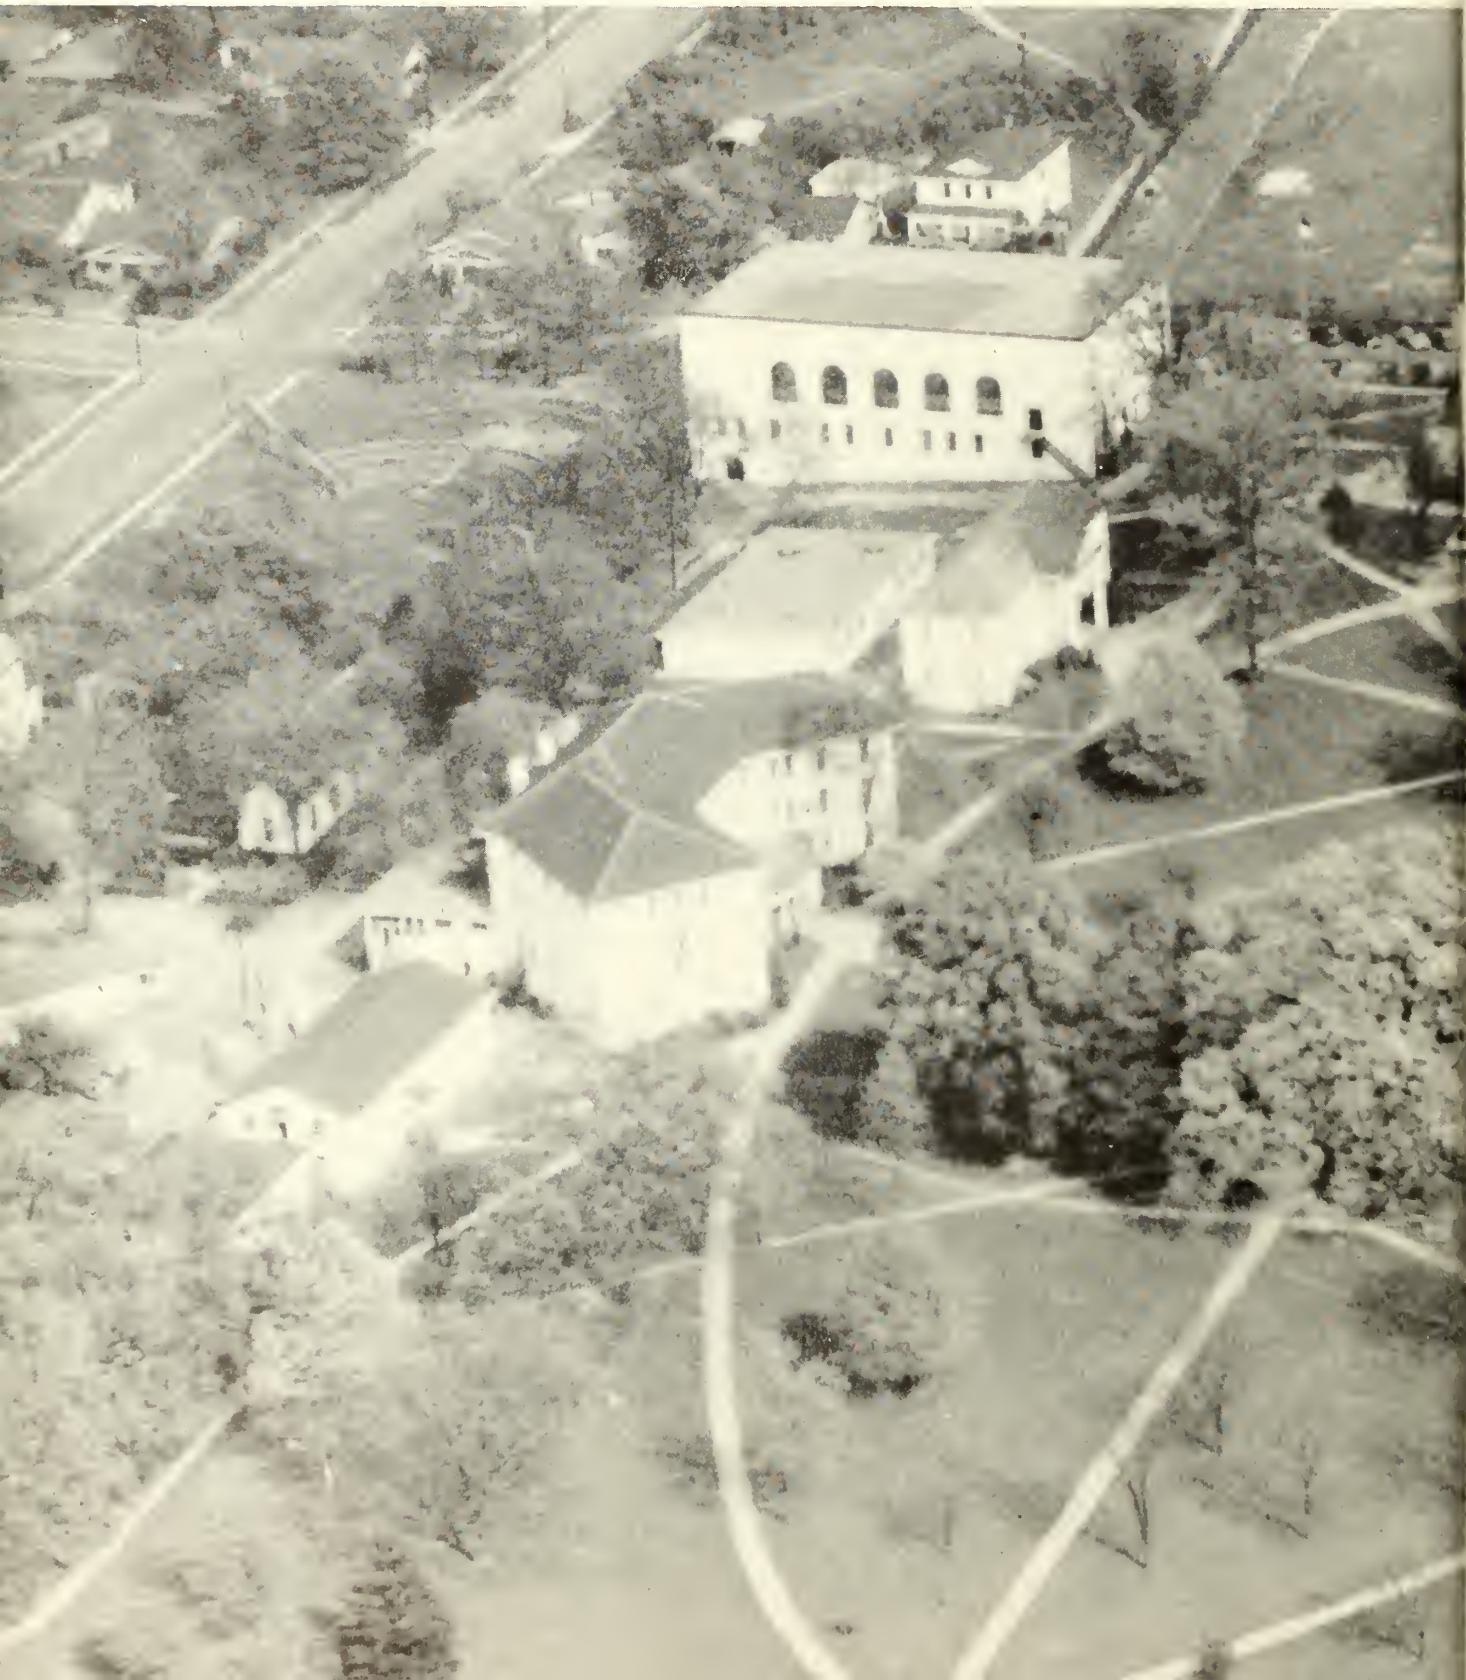

"A flash of color beneath the sky," Old Glory unfurls atop her mast between Old Main and Causey Gym, and looks toward a new school year upon our campus, a Christian section fragment of the "land of the free and home of the brave."

Dedication

Hard work in youthful days; determination to accomplish difficult tasks; enterprise and energy in business; and unselfish readiness to serve in public affairs—these are the elements of the career which have made Mr. John G. Burton one of the most successful, most respected, and most prominent citizens of the South.

Mr. Burton was born in Walker County and attended the Eldridge Baptist Academy. For thirteen years he was connected with the Central Bank and Trust Company in Jasper. Mr. Burton attained the honor of being elected Mayor of Jasper and maintained that position for thirteen years. For six years he was Chairman of the Board of Deacons at the First Baptist Church of Jasper, and he taught a Sunday School class in that church for nine years. Considering every interest of the people as a whole, his progressive ideas and accomplishments have won him statewide and national recognition. Mr. Burton was elected President of the Alabama League of Municipalities and he held an executive position on that board for eight years. He came to Howard College in 1948.

With an indomitable spirit and guided by wisdom learned from past achievements, Mr. Burton, as Business Manager of Howard College, is lending his leadership to the further growth and prosperity of one of the most wonderful institutions God ever made.

We love him for his friendliness, his interest in people, his strength of character, and his example of Christian living he has set for us to follow.

I am proud to dedicate the 1951 ENTRE NOUS to a Southern, Christian gentleman . . . Mr. John G. Burton.

—Betty Adams

The President

Howard College is very fortunate in having as its president, Major Harwell G. Davis. This year is the twelfth year that Major Davis has served as President of the College and Howard has progressed steadily during these years.

Major Davis had a varied and interesting career before coming to Howard. He earned his L.L.B. at the University of Alabama and was later honored with an L.L.D. He practiced law at Thomasville, Alabama, for a time and later on served the State of Alabama as attorney General and U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue.

Today he serves Howard College as its president and here as elsewhere he has earned the confidence and trust of all with whom he has come in contact. Howard College looks forward to many more successful years under his fine leadership.

The Deans

PERCY P. BURNS

One of the most loved and respected men on the campus of Howard College is Dean Burns.

He has served the college in a number of capacities since 1911. Today as Dean of the College he is a person to whom the students may go with their problems and always be certain of complete, courteous, and sincere understanding.

Dean Burns indeed ranks high in the esteem of the students and faculty. He will always be remembered by all who have ever passed through Howard's halls.

DEAN WILLIAM DALE

Rare indeed is the man who so completely captures the hearts of all the students who know him. Howard has just such a man—Dean William P. Dale. As Dean of Men he receives respect and admiration from all the men he counsels. His classes, too, are indeed popular. His truly genuine sense of humor and eagerness to aid all students may be one clue to his popularity. His unfailing courage has meant much to all who know him.

DEAN MARGARET SIZEMORE

Few people have an office that is as popular a gathering place as Dean Margaret Sizemore's office is. That's easy to understand when you glance about the campus and see evidences of work that come from the Dean of Women's office. And it's still easier to understand when you know Dean Sizemore. She always has a warm welcome for every student who comes to her office, and she's anxious to help and advise. She's truly a second mother to every girl at Howard.

Officers of

J. G. BURTON

We're sure that one person all students at Howard know is Mr. J. G. Burton—and you'll find all of us praising him highly. He has very capably managed the financial affairs of the college his three years here. It's because of his thoughtfulness and friendliness—and that smile of his helps too—that we feel free to go see Mr. Burton at any time. His wide experience and excellent results in this department makes our business manager to rate tops!

The organization was founded some forty years ago by Sir Norman Angell and Stephen Duggan for the discussion of world affairs and trends. Today this purpose has not changed and the organization has grown to be a world wide institutions under the sponsorship of the Carnegie Endowment of International Peace. The Howard chapter is reported to be the most active in the state, and holds an enviable place in the South. Members of the Howard Group are attending the State Conventions and the Southeastern Conference in Charleston, S. C.

Student Government

The student government is directly responsible to the student body for conducting its affairs and managing its funds. The Entre Nous, the Crimson, the Bull Pup, student elections, and H-Day and Homecoming Day activities are arranged and sponsored by this group.

Student officers are elected by the entire student body, while the seniors are chosen to serve their respective class by their class. These people have worked very diligently this year in carrying out their responsibilities to the fullest of their ability.

A member of this hard-working organization can feel highly honored in being chosen to represent the student body for managing student business. The cooperation among the members and that received from their supporters and fellow student has been appreciated this year.

Dear Friends:

We, the editors, of the 1951 Entre Nous, wish to express our sincere appreciation to everyone who helped make this book possible.

First we wish to express our sincere appreciation to the staff of the Entre Nous. There are not words to thank them for all they have done.

We wish also to thank Mr. Baxter, Entre Nous adviser, for his part in getting out the 1951 Entre Nous. And a very special word of thanks to Mr. Robinson who took his place—in addition to his many other duties—when Mr. Baxter was recalled into the army.

Our thanks go to Mr. Lawson and Mr. Missildine of Birmingham Printing Co. and to Mr. O'Neill and Mr. Waldrop of Magic City Engraving Co. for their patience and invaluable help with the fine details.

And last of all thanks to the students for their cooperation in helping to publish this yearbook.

Sincerely,

The

Mary Bloom Holliman became the editor of the Howard Crimson last Spring after holding the associate editor's job under Lance Anderson for two quarters.

All this experience of Mary's coupled with her journalism and English major, produced a smoothly-run and written paper right from the start. The headlines and masthead were changed to give the modern appearance that the front page now has.

The editorial page was stressed in the new Crimson. Editorials by the editor and other staff members gave orchids and some onions too, to the school activities and practicities. The Crimson's influence has shown by what was accomplished through its pages. Maybe some controversies were stirred up, but one thing's sure, the readership of the editorial page really went up!

The news coverage was made more efficient by the "beat" system worked out by Mr. Emmett Robinson, faculty advisor. The reporting class divided the campus by buildings and departments, and each was responsible for all the news on his beat. Better student and faculty coverage of all campus activities was the result.

Howard Crimson

Features by Nell Turner, Ruby Bryant Cleveland, Jeanne Phillips, Louis Isaacson, Joy Williams and Lewis Miller put life combined with straight news to make a more interesting paper. "Circuit Riders" was continued by Harold Cumbie to give news of the preacher's doings.

The results of all these changes was a paper that the students were waiting for at eight o'clock on Friday morning, and a second class honor rating by the American Collegiate Press.

Advice by Mr. Robinson and Mr. Baxter, faculty advisors, an able, efficient and willing staff of workers, and a helpful and interested student body combined to put out a good Crimson for 1950.

RHODES HOLLMAN

Business Manager

Rhodes is a Science and Education Major. He is a member of American Chemical Society, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Trident.

NELL TURNER
Associate Editor

Nell is a Junior and a journalism major from Wheeler, Alabama. She is active in the Press Club, Creative Writers Club, and The Baptist Student Union.

The Bull Pup

For the first time in a number of years the Bull Pup was ready and waiting for the Freshmen on registration day. This was due, in the most part, to the efforts of Jeanne Phillips, the editor, and Emmett Parker, the Business Manager.

The Bull Pup serves as a guide to the Freshmen during their first weeks on the campus. It includes such information as organizations, rules and regulations, campus activities, and sports.

Jeanne, a senior journalism major, in addition to being editor of the Bull Pup, is a very active member of Masquers, has been a hard worker on the Crimson staff, is a member of Hypatia and has been Student Chairman of the Red Cross for the Spring semester.

Emmett Parker, a French major, is also a member of Masquers. He is also a member of Delta Sigma Phi social fraternity, president of Beta Pi Theta, French honorary fraternity, the French Club, and many other campus organizations.

This small pocket-size handbook, edited by Alpha Phi Omega, contains such valuable information as fraternity and sorority members, presidents of various student organizations, phone numbers of important campus buildings as well as the names, addresses, phone numbers, and other information about each student enrolled at Howard College.

A vote of thanks to the boys of A. P. O. for this fine service.

Institute. This game ended in defeat for Howard with the Bulldogs, one tally being made by Spud Wallace on a seventy yard push—Final score T. P. I. 61; Howard 6.

Howard still hadn't lost their jinx when they played Florence State on October 7 at Decatur. Despite fine offensive playing by Pappas, Cutliffe and Hanes the Howard eleven went under 7-0.

The Howard-Florida State game, although Howard came out the loser, was one of the Bulldogs' greatest feats of the year. The FSU Seminoles who had been ranked among the top "elevens" over the country had to resort to every possible resource to stop the marauding Bulldogs. By the end of the first half the worried Seminoles were leading by a score of only 13-6.

CHARLES HEARN, Guard

In the second half FSU pushed hard and came forward to win 20-6. But despite the defeat the game will long be remembered by Howard fans as one of the best of the season.

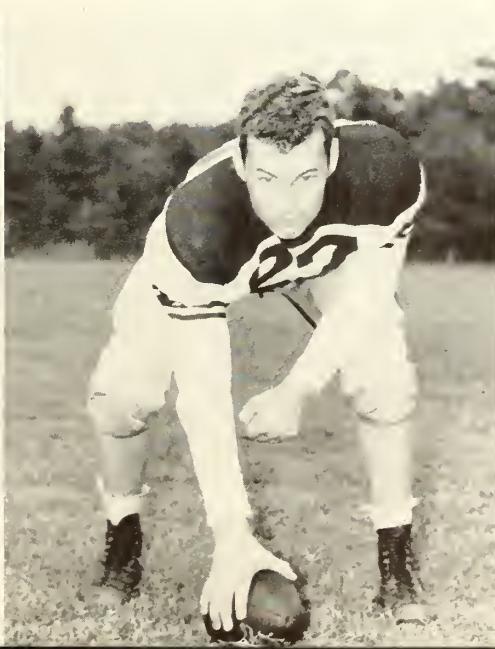

Howard racked up their first win on October 21 against Southwestern Institute of Memphis at Berry field to the Homecoming cries of "Lynch the Lynx." Sparked by Pappas, Cutcliffe and Bowden the 'Dogs romped over the bewildered Lynx and went on to a smashing victory.

With their win over Southwestern for a booster the Howard team went to Jackson Tennessee on October 28 to meet the Union University eleven. As one sports writer said" . . . the Howard eleven looked as though they had found themselves for the season."

The boys came home from this one with a 28-6 scalp on their belts.

Howard was host to the Mississippi College Choctaws at Hewitt High in Trussville on November 4. Howard held the Indians in check for the first three quarters, but the Choctaw's got under way early in the fourth quarter and pushed over a TD to gain a slight 7-6 victory over the Bulldogs.

Bad luck seemed to be setting in again when Howard journeyed to meet the Troy State Red Wave. Before an Armistice day crowd in Andalusia the 'Dogs went down beneath a 20-6 defeat.

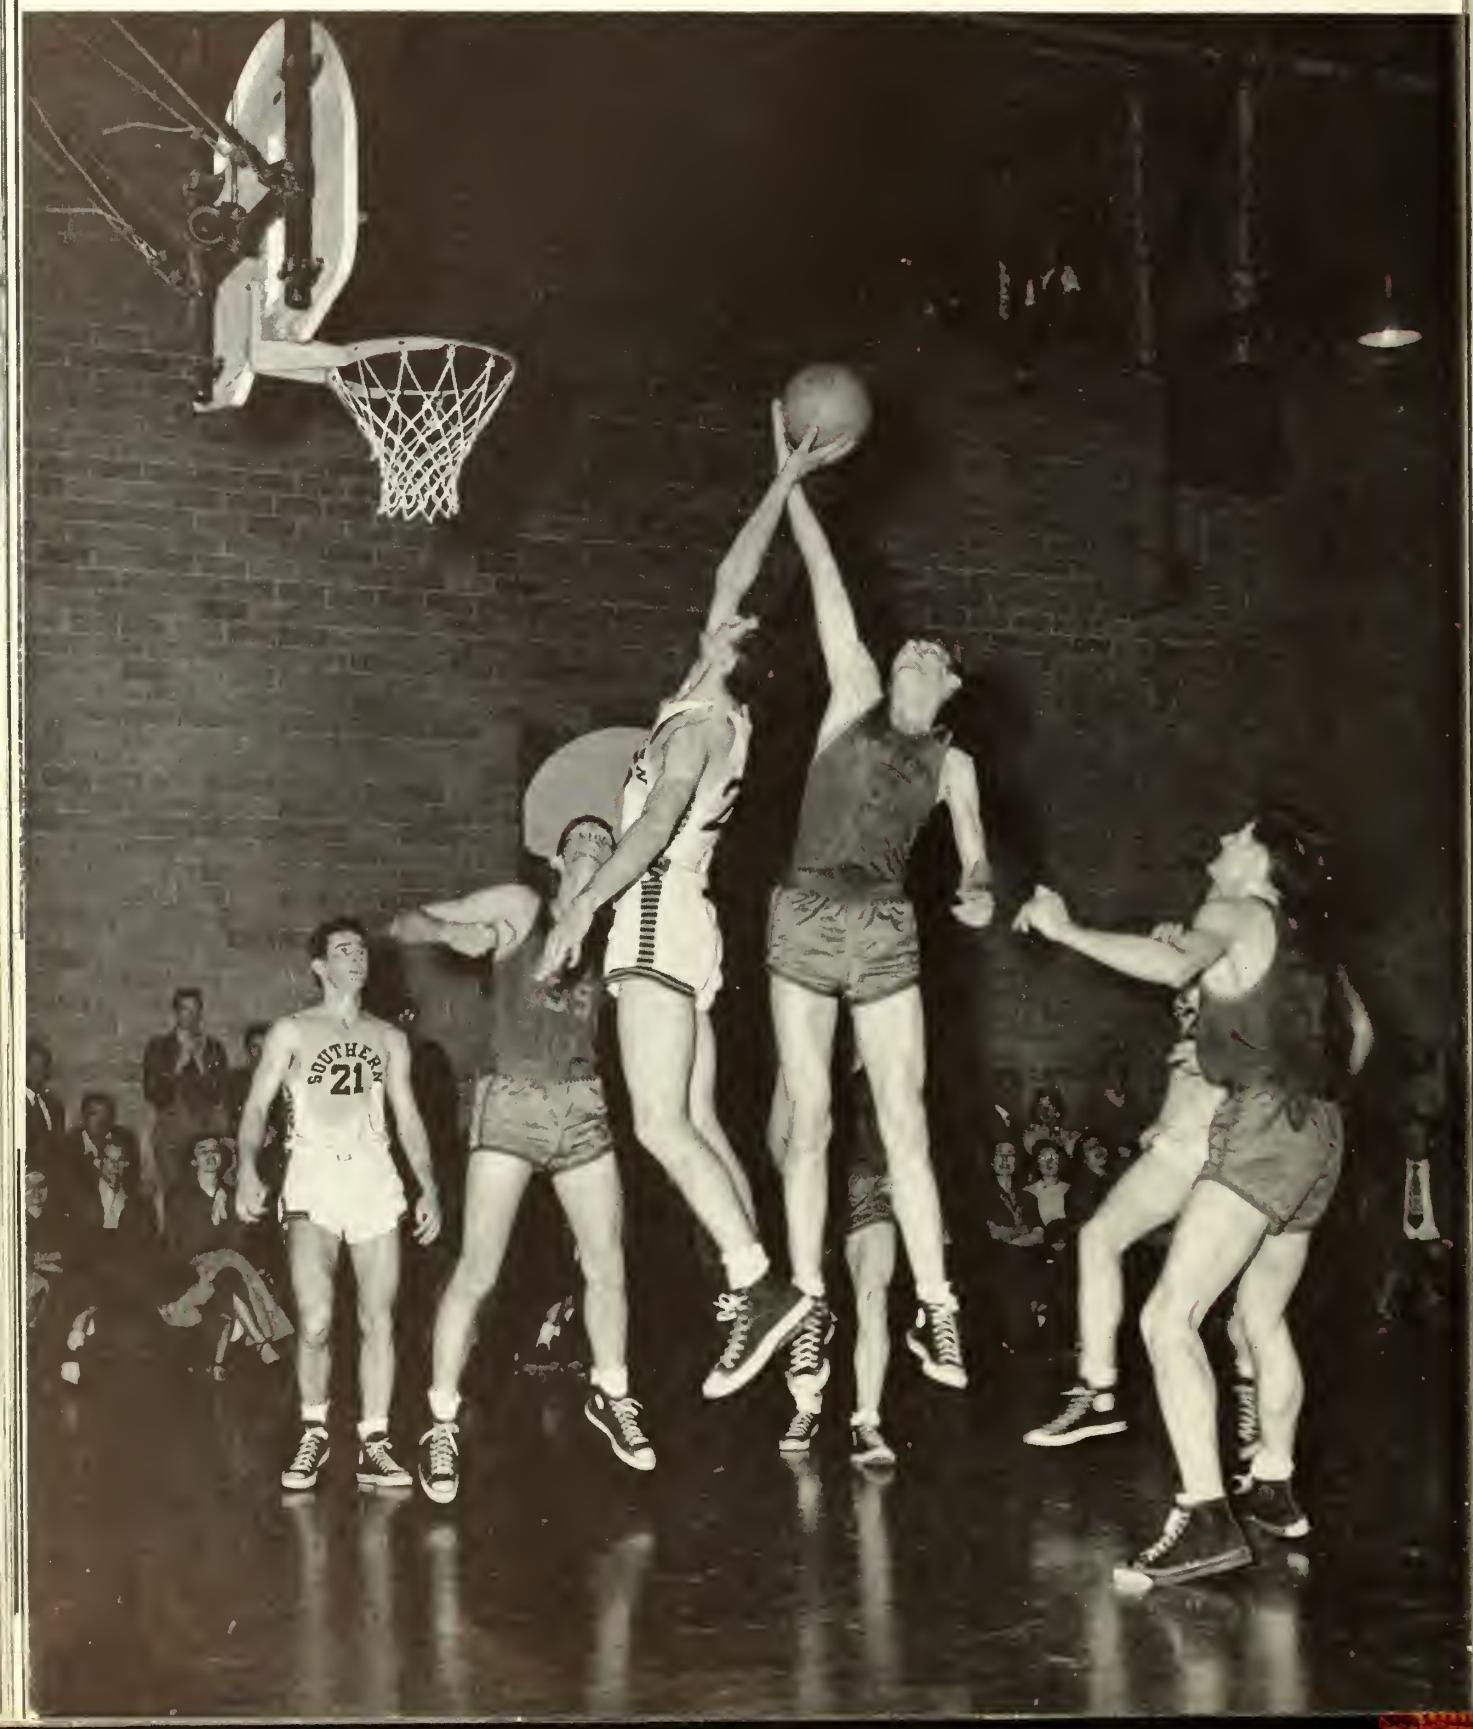

At Jackson, Mississippi Howard came, saw and was conquered by the Millsaps Majors. The Howard eleven fought hard but finally bogged down under an 18-7 final tally.

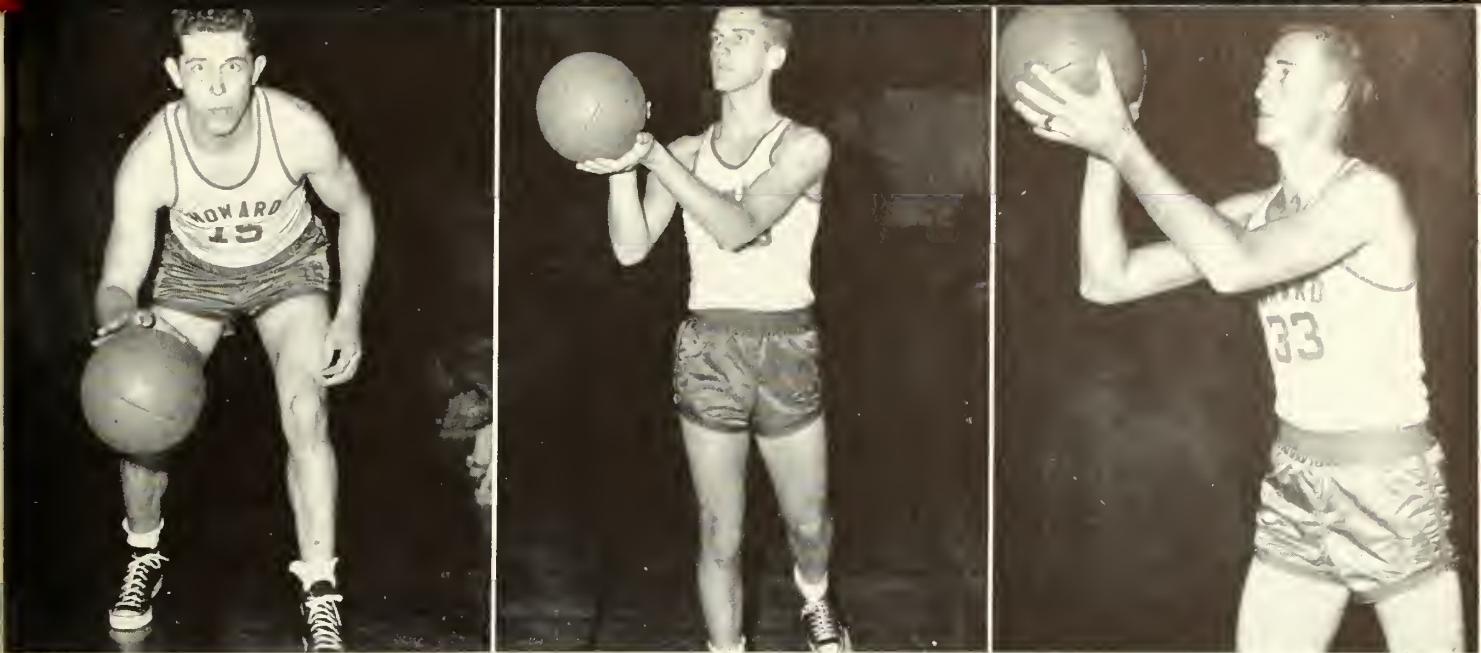

In the final game of the year Florence State took Howard for a 27-6 tally and ended the season with 2 wins and seven losses.
